

Clear Creek Organics Ltd.

Host Series of Regional Meetings

Despite the cold weather in early December of 2008, many organic livestock producers attended Clear Creek Organics regional meetings. The meetings held in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, were designed to inform producers on the progress Clear Creek was making on marketing fresh and value added organic meat products and how they could become involved in the company.

Gene Kessler, managing director of the company said, that there is an optimism in the organic meat market and that the demand is real and the opportunities should be exciting to organic livestock producers. He also informed the attendees that the launch of the value added products should be launched in early February and to watch the web site for further up dates.
